FOR PRESIDENT,
That uncrowned King of every Democratic heart,

SAMUEL J. TILDEN.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
Mr. Tilden's companion in Victory and in Humiliation,

THOMAS A. HENDRICKS.

ANNOUNCEMENT.
Richard Reid, of Mt. Sterling, is a candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals, to succeed Judge Harlan—subject to the action of the Democracy of the First Appellate District.

Representative Blackburn has introduced a bill in Congress for a public building at Lexington, to cost $125,000.

The petition nuisance already threatens Congress. Kansas proposes to send on a document with 20,000 signatures asking that a Soldiers' Home be established in that State.

A Wisconsin man was found under a haystack yesterday. He had been there twenty-four days without food or water, and was willing to admit that hay as a steady diet was not very filling.

Governor Knott's style of purifying the Kentucky Penitentiary differs materially from that of his predecessor. Instead of discharging the prisoners, Proctor's plan is to discharge the officers.

Thos. S. Pettit, of Owensboro, who ran against James Clay for Congressman from the Second district, has been appointed Tally Clerk of the House. Mr. Pettit was Tally Clerk at the last State Democratic Convention.

If Sullivan is to be permitted to knock an ox down upon the stage in New York, there should at least be the same fair play that is exercised at Spanish bull fights. The ox should have a chance to knock Sullivan down, and our money goes on the ox.

The President has sent the following nominations for recess appointments in Kentucky to the Senate: Walter Evans, Commissioner of Internal Revenue; J. W. Cobby, Surveyor of Customs at Paducah; Edward Farley, Collector of Internal Revenue for the Second District of Kentucky.

The bill to divide the State into two United States judicial districts has again been introduced in Congress. All that portion of the State east of Gallatin, Owen, Scott, Woodford, Mercer, Boyle, Casey, Russell and Clinton counties will constitute the Eastern district, with courts to be held at Lexington, Covington and Catlettsburg.

"To the victors belong the spoils," is a national adage, and is one that Governor Knott has as much right to observe as anybody. Therefore, we most heartily endorse everything that he does in way of remunerating his friends for past favors. There are too many little one-horse-papers wagging their jaws with a great deal of inconsistency just at present.

VIRGINIA has eleven cotton factories, and Georgia has fifty, all paying a dividend of from eight to twenty per cent. It is only a question of a very short time when the cotton industry will be confined wholly to the South. This will have the effect of liberating several hundred thousand slaves now in bondage of the Northern manufacturers, after which they will vote as they please.

The New York Herald, (Rep.) says of Carlisle being elected Speaker: It means that old fogies of the party—men afraid of their principles have lost their hold, and the young men of the party, men to whom politics means something more than mere office-getting, have come to the front. If the Democratic leaders have energy and intelligence, Carlisle's election means a sweeping Democratic victory next year. For the first time in many years there is before the party a fair prospect of success in popular favor, which they have long been seeking by many devious and false roads. At last they are on the right track. The result is a severe disappointment to the Republican politicians, who exclaim illogically but loudly, that it gives them the next Presidency.

Photography of the stars now forms an important part of the work done at the Harvard Observatory. A region of the heavens 15 degrees square is photographed at a single exposure, and eighteen of these pictures may be taken on a single plate. A map is thus made of a section of the stellar vault 90 degrees long by 45 wide, showing stars down to the fifth and sixth magnitudes. Smaller stars, down to the eighth magnitude, are shown in photographs of smaller areas. The magnitudes indicated by the photographs do not always correspond to those recorded as the determinations of eye observations. This is due to the effects of different colors among the stars. A red star, which may appear very brilliant to the eye, produces only a faint impression on the photographer's plate.

Sitting Bull's Speech Before the Common Council.

"Warriors and war-scarred veterans of the frontier: Once more the warpath is overgrown with bunch grass, and the tomahawk slumbers in the wigwam of the red man. Grim-visaged war has given place to the piping times of peace. The cold and cruel winter is upon us. It has been upon us for some time.

"The wail of departed spirits is on the night wind, and the wail of the man with the chilblain answers back from the warrior's wigwam.

"Children of the forest we are few. Where once the shrill war-whoop of the chieftain collected our tribe like the leaves of the forest, I might now yell till the cows come home without bringing out a quorum.

"We are fading away before the march of the paleface, and sinking into oblivion like the snow-flake on the bosom of the Stinking Water.

"Warriors, I am the last of a mighty race. We were a race of Chieftains. Alas! we will soon be gone. The Bull family will soon pass from the face of the earth. Ole is gone, and John is failing, and I don't feel very well myself. We are the victims of the paleface, and our lands are taken away.

"A few more suns and the civilization, valley tan, and hand made sour mash, and horse liniment of the paleface will have done their deadly work.

"Our squaws and papposes are scattered to the four winds of heaven, and we are left desolate.

"Where is The-Daughter-of-the-Tempest? Where is The-Wall-Eyed-Maiden-With-the-Peeled-Nose?

"Where is the Victoria Regina Dei Gracia Sitting Bull? Where is Knock-Kneed Chemiloon? Where are Sway-Back Sue and Meek-Eyed Government Socks?

"They have sunk beneath the fire-waters of the goggle-eyed Caucasian. They have succumbed to the delirium triangles, and when I call them they come not. They do not hear my voice. Their moans are heard upon the still night air, and they cry for revenge. Look at the sad remnant of the family of Sitting Bull, your chief. One sore-eyed squaw is left alone. Her face is furrowed o'er with the famine of many winters, and her nose is only the ruin of its former greatness. Her moccasins are worn out, and the soldier pants she wears are too long for her. She also is drunk. She is not as drunk as she can get, but she is hopeful and persevering. She has also learned to lie like the white man. She is now an easy, extemporaneous liar. When we gather about the camp fire and enact our untold lies in the gloaming, Lucretia Borgia Skowhegan Sitting Bull, with the inspiration of six fingers of agency coffin varnish, proceeds to tell the prize prevarication, and then the house adjourns, and nothing can be heard but the muffled tread of the agency corn beef, going out to get some fresh air. Lucretia Borgia is also becoming slovenly. It is evening, and yet she has not donned her evening dress. Her back hair is unkempt, and her front hair is unbung. Pretty soon I will take a tomahawk and bang it for her. She seems despondent and hopeless. As she leans against the trunk of a mighty oak and scratches her back, you can see that her thoughts are far away. Her other suspender is gone, but she don't care a cold smooth clam. She is thinking of her childhood days by the banks of Minnehaha.

"Warriors, we stand in the moccasins of a mighty nation. We represent the starving remnant of the once powerful Sioux. Our pirogue stands idly on the shore. I don't know what a pirogue is, but it stands idly on the shore.

"When the spring flowers bloom again, and the grass is green upon the plains, we will once more go upon the warpath. We will avenge the wrongs of our nation. I have not fully glutted my vengeance. I have seven or eight more gluts on hand, and we will shout our war-cry once more, and mutilate some more Anglo-Saxons. We will silence the avenging cries of our people. We will spatter the green grass and grey greasewood with the gore of the paleface, and feed the white-livered emigrant to the coyote. We will spread death and desolation everywhere, and fill the air with gun overshoots and remains. Let us yield up our lives dearly while we wash the paleface beyond recognition, and shoot his hired man so full of holes that he will look like a suspension bridge.

"Warriors, there is our hunting ground. The buffalo, the antelope, the sagehen and the jackass rabbit are ours. Ours to enjoy, ours to perpetuate, ours to transmit. The Great Spirit created these animals for the red man, and not for the bilious tourists, between whose legs the chesnut sunlight penetrates clear up to his collar bone.

"Then we will ride down on the regular army, when he is thinking of something else, and we will scare him into convulsions, and our medicine men will attend to the convulsions while we sample the supplies.

"Then we will take some cold sliced Indian agent, and some bay rum, and go on a picnic.

"Warriors, farewell. Be virtuous and you will be happy; but you will be lonesome, sometimes. Think of what I have said to you about the council fire, and govern yourselves accordingly. We will not murmur at the celluloid cracker and cast iron codfish ball, but in the spring we will have veal cutlets for breakfast, and peace commissioner on toast for dinner. The squaw of Sitting Bull sh! have a new plug hat, and if the weather is severe, she shall have two of them.

"Warriors, farewell. I am done. I have spoken. I have nothing more to say. Sic semper domino. Plumbago erysipelas, in hock eureka, sciataca, neufruct, limburger, gobraugh."—[BILL NIX.

During stoppage of Paris Mills preparatory to building one of the very best Mills in America, exclusively Roller Machinery and will dispense with mill stones entirely, except for grinding corn. We have arranged with our Brother Miller to supply us with various grades of flour to run our trade during suspension. Some of our good grocery friends over in town officiously inform parties that the Paris Mills have suspended operation and we are not selling flour, such is not the fact and they well know it. Capt. E. P. Spear of Bourbon Mills and Rogers & Boston of Carlisle are furnishing us a very good fancy flour, and I have made arrangements with Robinson & Co. of Mayfield to furnish us with their celebrated gold patent flour which the "World cannot beat." This flour is made exclusively by full sets of roller machinery, no mill stones used in its manufacture, no half roller process like some several mills who are shipping flour to Paris coveying the idea that they make full roller flour. It is impossible to make a quality of flour by this half process to compete with full roller flour.

I would especially request my patrons to try this Robinson & Co. gold patent flour. Guarantee to fully come up to representation or money refunded in fact this guarantee extends to each and every brand or grade of flour we sell. Very Kindly and Ever Truly Yours, WM. SHAW.
